Dear Johann,

A number of us, not just Penn and I, got identical xeroxes.

I've searched every file in which I might have filed it that I can think of and can't find it. I'll delay mailing this several days on the chance of remembering the correct file.

It was a good imitation of Oswald's writing.

It had a return dddress on the envelope. OOOPS! I'll check that.

I've not found the one sent me but I enclose a copy of the identical letters sent to a friend who no longer lives at thatxxxxx address.

I don't know and don't know of anyone who has any reason to know who cooked it up. Sounds like some spook having some fun.

There is such an address. I wrote Exx Sr. there and my letter was not returned.

Sincerely,

Harold
